

Are you a person living after Colorectal Cancer?

Let's talk about it.

Living after a diagnosis of Colorectal Cancer (CRC) is a different experience for everyone.

Improvements in early detection and treatment mean that there are more and more individuals living with Colorectal Cancer, and our healthcare system needs to catch up in order to meet the needs of this growing number of Australians.

Many of these people living with Colorectal Cancer report that they experience ongoing difficulties with bowel symptoms, diet and lifestyle following treatment. Our research group wants to hear about your experiences, so that we can better support recovery.

If you have previously undergone treatment for Colorectal Cancer (colon, rectal or bowel) please get in touch with us:
